

About NSUN

Neighbourhood Solidarity with Unhoused Neighbours (NSUN) formed to support unhoused people across the Capital Region.

The purpose of NSUN is to actualize housing justice and inclusive communities throughout Greater Victoria through solidarity, mutual aid, and centering the right to housing.

What we do

NSUN offers direct assistance to unhoused people by providing items like tents, sleeping bags and tarps. NSUN also advocates for a rights-based approach to homelessness to Mayor and Council, as well as other groups that are involved with homelessness in the CRD.

If you'd like to join us ...

We're always happy to have new members join us! Send us an email (neighbourhoodsun@gmail.com) or use the contact form on our website (see the QR code below).

contact us

← donate to us
(option 3) →

About NSUN

Neighbourhood Solidarity with Unhoused Neighbours (NSUN) formed to support unhoused people across the Capital Region.

The purpose of NSUN is to actualize housing justice and inclusive communities throughout Greater Victoria through solidarity, mutual aid, and centering the right to housing.

What we do

NSUN offers direct assistance to unhoused people by providing items like tents, sleeping bags and tarps. NSUN also advocates for a rights-based approach to homelessness to Mayor and Council, as well as other groups that are involved with homelessness in the CRD.

If you'd like to join us ...

We're always happy to have new members join us! Send us an email (neighbourhoodsun@gmail.com) or use the contact form on our website (see the QR code below).

contact us

← donate to us
(option 3) →

About NSUN

Neighbourhood Solidarity with Unhoused Neighbours (NSUN) formed to support unhoused people across the Capital Region.

The purpose of NSUN is to actualize housing justice and inclusive communities throughout Greater Victoria through solidarity, mutual aid, and centering the right to housing.

What we do

NSUN offers direct assistance to unhoused people by providing items like tents, sleeping bags and tarps. NSUN also advocates for a rights-based approach to homelessness to Mayor and Council, as well as other groups that are involved with homelessness in the CRD.

If you'd like to join us ...

We're always happy to have new members join us! Send us an email (neighbourhoodsun@gmail.com) or use the contact form on our website (see the QR code below).

contact us

← donate to us
(option 3) →

How you can help - today!

1 Say 'Hi' to your neighbour

Research and anecdotal experience confirm that one of the most harmful and painful parts of being unhoused is the stigmatization and perception of being less than human from housed neighbours. Next time you pass an unhoused person, if you feel safe to do so, meet their eyes, smile and offer a 'Hello'. Again, if you feel safe to do so, introduce yourself.

2 Educate yourself

Knowledge is power. There are many books, free online courses, podcasts, and local events like Project ReConnect to learn about homelessness easily and at little or no cost.

3 You've learned more, and you say 'hi' to your unhoused neighbours. What's next?

Once you've educated yourself and learned some more about homelessness, learn about how to push back against misinformation and stigmatizing language effectively and safely. For help with 2 and 3 see our pinned blog post at <https://nsun.ca/news>

How you can help - today!

1 Say 'Hi' to your neighbour

Research and anecdotal experience confirm that one of the most harmful and painful parts of being unhoused is the stigmatization and perception of being less than human from housed neighbours. Next time you pass an unhoused person, if you feel safe to do so, meet their eyes, smile and offer a 'Hello'. Again, if you feel safe to do so, introduce yourself.

2 Educate yourself

Knowledge is power. There are many books, free online courses, podcasts, and local events like Project ReConnect to learn about homelessness easily and at little or no cost.

3 You've learned more, and you say 'hi' to your unhoused neighbours. What's next?

Once you've educated yourself and learned some more about homelessness, learn about how to push back against misinformation and stigmatizing language effectively and safely. For help with 2 and 3 see our pinned blog post at <https://nsun.ca/news>

How you can help - today!

1 Say 'Hi' to your neighbour

Research and anecdotal experience confirm that one of the most harmful and painful parts of being unhoused is the stigmatization and perception of being less than human from housed neighbours. Next time you pass an unhoused person, if you feel safe to do so, meet their eyes, smile and offer a 'Hello'. Again, if you feel safe to do so, introduce yourself.

2 Educate yourself

Knowledge is power. There are many books, free online courses, podcasts, and local events like Project ReConnect to learn about homelessness easily and at little or no cost.

3 You've learned more, and you say 'hi' to your unhoused neighbours. What's next?

Once you've educated yourself and learned some more about homelessness, learn about how to push back against misinformation and stigmatizing language effectively and safely. For help with 2 and 3 see our pinned blog post at <https://nsun.ca/news>

